

Junior Analyst Quantitative Advisory

Reference:	JAQA-INT-2021
Starting Date:	January 2021
Employment Type:	Internship (6-months), from Monday to Friday
Seniority Level:	Junior level

We are looking for a Junior Analyst to join our Quantitative Investment Advisory team. This is an exceptional opportunity for candidates to join a challenging high-growth environment and learn alongside experts in the industry.

Our Company

Koris International is part of the TrackInsight Group and specializes in quantitative investment advisory. We design innovative systematic strategies for asset managers, private banks, and family offices to help them tackle tomorrow's challenges with state-of-the-art investment solutions.

What you will do

As a Junior Analyst, you will work closely with the Quantitative Investment Advisory team to run, maintain, and develop the firm's investment strategies. You will also take part in client reporting, funds selection, and model back testing.

Typical tasks of an analyst include, amongst others:

- Daily monitoring and reporting on current strategies
- Prepare client presentations
- Contribute to the development of new strategies
- Analyzing ETF data to support the research effort of TrackInsight
- Other client operations such as fund selection and due diligence

What you need to succeed

We are looking for candidates with 0-2 years of work experience and an affinity with the asset management industry. You possess sound analysis and communication skills, and you are a true team player.

Check your profile:

- 0-2 years of work experience, preferably with an economic or financial academic background
- Experience in quantitative portfolio management or the ETF industry
- Proven affinity with financial markets
- Keen learner with proactive attitude
- Strong communicator
- Team player
- Experienced user of Excel, Word and PowerPoint
- Fluency in English, written and spoken

Application Process

Enthusiastic? Please upload your CV and motivation letter by clicking the "Apply" button or send us an email at careers@koris-intl.com. We are looking forward to meeting you!

What we offer

To ensure talent grows and stays at Koris, we provide our employees with a competitive salary, a working environment using the latest technology, and professional training opportunities.